Ike Favors Labor Talks Nixon Sees Strike Curbs

If 80-Days Fail to Bring Pact Warns Congress Will Take Stand

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Legislation to curb the power of both steel companies and the United Steelworkers may result if no strike settlement is reached within the 80-day cooling-off period, Vice President Richard M. Nixon predicted Friday night.

He warned that if the dispute remains unresolved, it will land in the lap of Congress in an election year when "political considerations will have far more effect than they should have."

Hopes for Settlement

"We have hopes that within this 80-day period both the steel companies and the union will recognize that if they go to the end of the period without settlement, there will be a possibility of congressional action detrimental to both," Nixon said.

The vice president gave his views in a question-and-answer session at the banquet of the 50th anniversary convention of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity.

He said also that the farm income problem looms as possibly the major domestic issue for the 1960 campaign and the administration is studying recommendations to Congress to solve it.

No Commitment

Nixon said that expansion of foreign markets is not the answer if it means dumping of surpluses abroad. He said this hurts foreign relations.

The vice president again refused to commit himself as a presidential candidate next year, saying it's too early to discuss his plans. But he called running for a third term as vice president "completely out of the question."

13th Marine Ball Scheduled Tonight

Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League, will sponsor its 13th annual ball and stage show tonight at the Tropical Inn in Port Ewen.

The program will get underway at 9 o'clock featuring a star-studded entertainment bill including lovely Lee Kane, Capitol Recording star; Jerry White, master of ceremonies; Nina and Valdez, dance team and the celebrated international act, the Grimaldis.

Proceeds of tonight's event will go for the Marine Corps scholarship fund.

1960 Guns Are Sounding Early By Hopefuls for White House Job

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Political guns are thundering surprisingly loud in advance of next year's presidential season.

Presidential hopefuls now beating the bushes are Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) and New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller. None of these men actually admit they are running for presidential nominations next year.

Ave, Brown Confer

A Democratic elder statesman, W. Averell Harriman, and a possible Democratic presidential dark horse, Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California, conferred at Sacramento, Calif., and took the occasion to throw a few bricks at the Republicans.

Nixon, speaking at Indianapolis, Friday, said the farm issue "will very possibly be the major issue on the domestic scene in 1960."

Nixon said it is "out of the question" that he would run again as a vice presidential candidate but that "I still feel it's too early" to announce 1960 plans.

The vice president patted Rockefeller, his main Republican rival, on the back for being a "very effective" campaigner. But

Nixon added that the New York governor "does not have the experience at campaigning nationally that some others have had."

He presumably meant himself.

Kennedy Like Winnie

Kennedy, at Milwaukee, barrowed a phrase from Sir Winston Churchill in saying a new administration is needed to overcome the gains made by the Soviet Union in the past seven years while "the locusts had eaten."

The Russians, said the Massachusetts senator, have beaten us into outer space, around the sun, to the moon, and surpassed us in rocket engines and new fuels.

"All this they have done," Kennedy said, "while we for seven years have cut our forces, reduced our budgets, held back our missile programs, wasted our money and time and scientific talent."

He likened the situation to that which confronted England 23 years ago. He quoted Churchill as saying then the British government had been blind to the menace of the Nazis in "the years the locusts had eaten."

Rocky in Frisco

Rockefeller, at San Francisco, said: "We must clearly see the conflict between American and Soviet objectives and principles as only one grave struggle upon the wide scene in this age of revolution."

"We need . . . some sort of greater and larger political arrangement. Concretely, this means the growth of regional groupings of nations so that the traditions of culture, the needs of economy, and the nature of politics — all are enlisted to serve the defining new and stronger and healthier relations among the nations."

Dodges Reports

Rockefeller, at several appearances during the day, dodged saying he was in the running for the GOP presidential nomination. Told that Nixon expects him to run, he said: "That's his opinion. I haven't made up my mind."

Harriman and Brown at a joint news conference in Sacramento said the Republicans have failed to recognize the nation must grow, resulting in a tight money policy which stifles adequate credit for schools, homes, and small business.

"And," said Harriman, "Republican peace is about the same as Khrushchev's peaceful coexistence. There's a cessation of hostilities but no real peace."

Mitchell, Meany Are To Confer

Will Discuss Ways To Avoid Strikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has taken a step toward calling a White House conference of management and union leaders. The agenda: New ways of settling strikes as crippling as the steel walkout.

A labor spokesman said Friday night that the President had asked President George Meany of the AFL-CIO to discuss the matter with Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell.

Meany's Proposal

Meany had proposed the conference in a letter to the President. Excerpts from the letter and the reply were released by the spokesman. Al Zuck, public relations director of the AFL-CIO,

"I am asking Secretary Mitchell to confer with you as to your specific ideas on time, place, and composition of the conference you suggest," Eisenhower wrote.

"He will also explore with representative management leaders their ideas on the subject."

Meany had written Eisenhower that "our country must avoid drifting by statute into rigid and arbitrary rules for collective bargaining. Such drifting can only lead to a serious weakening of the underpinnings of our whole democratic way of life."

Prestige May Help

The AFL-CIO president said he hoped a White House conference would induce labor and management to "talk out their problems and come to some solution — particularly of those problems typified by the attitude of both sides in the steel strike."

The prestige of the White House, Meany said, would put both sides at the conference "under public pressure to come to some kind of accommodation."

Miserable Is The Word to Describe Weather in East

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was cold, wet, and generally miserable across wide areas in the Eastern two thirds of the country today as a mid-November storm that pounded the Rockies moved eastward and southward.

It looked like a rough day for football fans.

The snow appeared diminishing as it moved into the Midwest, but amounts up to seven inches covered the ground in western Illinois. Earlier in Montana the storm dumped up to two feet of snow and sent temperatures as low as 42 below zero.

The Arctic air dipped southward to the Rio Grande in western Texas and headed southeastward into the Ohio Valley and lower Great Lakes region.

Freezing rain slicked highways in southwest Texas where temperatures dropped into the 30s. A narrow belt of freezing rain or drizzle spread across east central Missouri and central Illinois to northwest Indiana.

North of the sleet area, snow or snow flurries fell from eastern Iowa and northern Illinois into lower Michigan and northward to Lake Superior and to the Red River Valley of the north.

Scattered light showers sprinkled areas east of the Appalachians from northeast Georgia into New England.

The stormy weather and unseasonable cold have been blamed for at least 21 deaths, including 8 in Montana, 7 in Illinois, 5 in Iowa and 1 in Kansas. Driving conditions were reported extremely hazardous in many parts of the country hit by snow and freezing rain.

The cold air from the Rockies tumbled temperatures 15 to 35 degrees lower than Friday morning in the plains. The 20 below zero at Valentine, Neb., was a new record low for November.

School No. 8 P-TA

To Hear Insurance Talk

A discussion on insurance will be presented at the Tuesday meeting of School No. 8 P-TA at the school at 7:45 p. m.

Herman J. Eaton will deliver the talk.

The program of the meeting will be Auction Night. Refreshments will be served.

Six Schools Are Testing New Lunches

Almost 400 package lunches are being served daily in the Kingston School District (Consolidated) in a test program sponsored by the board of education in an effort to provide a better and more economical lunch.

A total of 100 is being served at the Hurley School, 40 at School No. 8, 60 at School No. 5, 60 at School No. 2, 50 at Kingston High School and 40 or 50 at KJ.M.

One criticism of the package lunch program which has been heard is that the lunches are cold. However, the elementary schools of the district have been serving a cold lunch once a week without apparently drawing criticism.

John W. Johnson, the new director of cafeterias in the school district, points out that the lunch program as it is operated is not giving the people of Kingston its money's worth in nutritive or in economic value.

"The problem that now confronts us is should we continue to administer the present program which is unwieldy and costly or should we set out a new imaginative program. I am convinced that we should follow the second choice. The package lunch program is new and imaginative and it will result in higher quality food at a lower cost to the community."

The school lunch program in the smaller schools has been operating at a deficit. Evaluation indicates that the dollar cost of producing hot lunches in the smaller schools of the district is high. A limited number of lunches are produced per man-hour of work. Money being lost is largely in overhead costs and not in nutrition, it is claimed.

Exponents of the package lunch program feel that the package type lunch is nutritively better, can be provided at lower cost, is more speedy and practical and would be well-received by the students.

GM Recalls About Half of 13,000 Idled by Strike

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — General Motors Corp., has recalled nearly half of almost 13,000 workers furloughed in western and central New York plants because of steel shortages.

The first group of 5,500 returning workers will report at Rochester and Syracuse plants Monday and the rest Nov. 23, GM announced Friday.

Harrison Radiator Division in Buffalo said full production would resume Nov. 23, when 3,400 hourly employees check in at its three area plants.

A plant spokesman at Harrison said "rapid replenishment" of the plant's steel banks permitted the recall "a week earlier than originally planned." Harrison said earlier it would recall its hourly force Nov. 30.

In Rochester, Delco Appliance and Rochester Products division will begin recall of 2,000 of 3,600 workers Monday. Each will take 100 workers Monday and Delco 1,800 more on Nov. 23.

All are auto production employees.

This would leave 1,600 idle at those plants.

In Syracuse, GM's Brown-Lipe-Chapin division, auto accessory manufacturers, said 350 of 900 furloughed will return Monday.

More than 7,000 workers still are idle at GM plants in central and western New York. Four Chevrolet plants in the Buffalo area have let out 5,000.

No additional recall dates have been set.

Seize More Oregon Berries: Flemming

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Welfare Department has recommended seizure in California of another shipment of Oregon cranberries found to be tainted with aminothiazole, the weed killer that produces cancer in rats.

Welfare Secretary Arthur S. Flemming said Friday no evidence has turned up that any cranberries are contaminated except some of those from Washington and Oregon.

Those states produce about 10 per cent of the nation's cranberry crop. The big cranberry states—in order of crop size—are Massachusetts, Wisconsin and New Jersey.

Flemming was borne out by an Associated Press check of 17 regional offices of the Food and Drug Administration, which is testing the entire current cranberry crop.

Aside from the San Francisco office, which turned up the second tainted Oregon shipment at Modesto, Calif., none of the offices have found any bad cranberries. But they said it may be weeks before they complete their tests.

Up to Justice Office

Flemming said the tainted shipment contained 311 bags of 4 pounds each that came from Coquille, Ore. A previous California seizure was recommended Monday by Flemming. It is the Justice Department that makes any seizures.

Cranberry growers have severely criticized Flemming for touching off the scare just when Thanksgiving and Christmas are coming. Flemming has stood his ground. His department said Friday that "No one knows how much, or how little of any chemical which produces cancer in the test animal may be required to produce cancer in a human being."

Business Learns
Going Is Tough
After Strike End

By JACK LEFLER

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Business started pulling itself out of the morass of the steel strike this week but found the going tough.

The steel industry fired up long cold furnaces and got up to an estimated 45.9 per cent of capacity. It will be a long haul before near capacity is approached.

Little Yule Harvest

The automobile industry actually slipped deeper into the quagmire created by steel shortage.

Retailers in strike-affected areas didn't look for much of a Christmas shopping harvest from paychecks of workers back on the job.

Virtually all of the half million striking steelworkers were expected to be back in the plants this week.

The biggest steelmaker, U.S. Steel Corp., said it hopes to boost production to 70 per cent of capacity next week. Industry sources predict it will be four to six weeks before mills can produce at the normal rate of about 90 per cent.

Railroads and coal mines started calling their idle men back to work at a slower pace but iron ore-carrying vessels were quick to get into service on the Great Lakes.

Auto Output Depressed

Automobile production remained at the depressed pace of last week—a little over 60,000 units, down nearly 50 per cent from the same week a year ago.

General Motors shut down its last assembly line, increasing its idled workers to 220,000. GM said it will be four or five weeks before there is enough steel on hand to start assembling again. But there was a bright spot in announcement that 10,000 will be called to the Terrestrial body hardware plant by Nov. 23.

Chrysler closed its first assembly line.

ITU Accepts Pact, Six Boston Papers Resume

BOSTON (AP) — Six Boston newspapers, closed for eight days by a printers' strike were back in operation today.

The strike ended Friday night when the International Typographical Union members voted 644-543 to accept the publishers' offer to arbitrate unresolved issues on wages and fringe benefits.

The vote reversed the action of Nov. 5 when a vote of 561-511 opposing arbitration precipitated the strike.

Only two of the morning papers, the Globe and the Herald, were published this morning. The Daily Record, morning tabloid, will resume publication with its Sunday night editions.

The three afternoon papers, the American, Evening Globe, and the Traveler, canceled today's editions but will resume Monday.

The publishers said the three

Sunday papers — the Sunday Advertiser, the Herald and the Globe — will be published.

About 1,200 printers, along with about 5,000 other newspaper employees, were idle during the eight days.

The printers, who have been getting a base pay of $119.40 weekly plus $4.75 in pension and welfare benefits, sought improved pay terms in a new contract, but their demands were not disclosed.

The publishers' offer was for a 9-cents-an-hour raise retroactive to last Jan. 1, plus a 15-cent additional payment per shift to the pension and welfare fund. In addition they offered 7 2-3 cents an hour additional, effective next Jan. 1 with 5 cents more to the welfare fund.

The publishers also proposed arbitration of the printers' demand for three days off with pay in the event of a death in their immediate families.

English Youth Leader Conducts Alliance Crusade

MAJOR W. IAN THOMAS

Noted English evangelist Major W. Ian Thomas, will conduct a spiritual life crusade at the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, Franklin and Pine Streets beginning Sunday 11 a. m. and continuing through Sunday, Nov. 22.

Sunday evening the service will begin at 7 p. m. During the week the services will be held at 7:30 p. m. except Saturday.

Born in England, Major Thomas was commissioned an infantry officer in 1933, served in the World War 2 and is now in reserve.

Youth Leader

Major Thomas lives in the English Lake District 60 miles South of the Scottish border at Capernwray Hall which is a Young People's Christian Holiday Conference Center and Bible School. The school and center was started in 1947 by Major Thomas who is also the general director. He has recently started a similar center in the Rhineland, Germany. Some 25,000 young people from the British Isles and another 2,500 from all over Europe have been at Capernwray Hall for training and spiritual teaching.

Keswick Speaker

Several times, Major Thomas has been a speaker at union services called Keswick Conferences in England, the United States and other areas of the world. He has travelled some 50,000 miles a year in Europe, United States, Canada, Africa. He expects to visit and preach in Australia, New Zealand and possibly Japan in 1960. He has been in the states six times to minister at the Keswick.

Major Thomas has just completed a speaking engagement at the Keswick Conference in the noted Moody Church of Chicago with hundreds of people in attendance. He has been the speaker for the Highland Lake Bible Conference and many other churches and conferences in the United States.

Major Thomas will be interviewed Monday afternoon at 1 p. m. on a special program over station WBAZ.

The pastor of the Alliance Church, the Rev. Virgil R. Briscoe, extends an invitation to the public to hear this gifted and outstanding minister. The services will include special vocal and instrumental music nightly.

Bishops' Relief Agency Thanksgiving Appeal

Catholics in the New York Archdiocese will be called upon tomorrow by Francis Cardinal Spellman, to support the annual Thanksgiving week appeal of the Bishops' Relief Agency to benefit the "sick, destitute and exiled of the world." The plea will be contained in a pastoral letter to be read in all Catholic churches.

Cardinal Spellman points out that in his journeys to nearly every country of the globe, he has seen "the great good that has been accomplished," by the overseas program of the Bishops' Relief Agency which "now carries on its varied works of mercy in 61 countries."

This entailed shipping more than one billion pounds of foodstuffs, clothing and medicines last year to stricken areas of the world, the Cardinal states, thus alleviating "the dreadful lot of millions of pitiful but heroic peoples."

Attention is called to the Thanksgiving collection to be taken up in all churches of the Archdiocese, November 22, and the clothing collection which will be conducted during the remainder of the week.

"It is the privilege and sacred duty of each one of us," the letter concludes, "to become part of this Christy program through our contributions which enable the Bishops' Relief Agency to carry on its worldwide battle against human misery."

THE HUMAN TOUCH

Dear God, I like to talk with You each day. In what I hope is a very personal way. Especially during the early hours of morning. Before the tranquil day is born.

I seem to accomplish so very much in prayer, when I make this human touch.

When all alone just man to man. My supplications You understand.

In the quiet hours of each new day, I find no trouble in trying to pray. I see You in suffering, I see You in joy. I marvel at Your life from a Galilean boy.

I understand the importance of being alone. As I look to the Heavens, the place of Your home. As I watch through my window a lighted sky. I know You are watching those who pass by.

I find each day a better day after a night of prayer. It's easy to love your neighbor—where he comes from. I know not where. His color or creed matters none to me. After we make this human touch.

English Village Makes Own Movie of John the Baptist

By GEOFFREY MILLER

LYTCHETT MINSTER, England, (AP) — The ordinary folk of this sleepy English village — the lady of the manor and the dairymaid the village doctor and the cowherd—have teamed together in a novel work of religious faith. They've made a movie.

Using their own camera, working every Sunday for three years, they produced an epic film of the life of John the Baptist.

It is now going round the world. Not long ago the movie, called "Voice in the Wilderness," was shown at the 16th International Conference on Audio-Visuals in the Church at Green Lake, Wis. It has been screened also in New York and Ottawa. New sound tracks are being prepared in German, Iranian and Japanese.

Idea of Lady of Manor

It was the lady of the manor — to whom English country folk still touch their caps in deference — who thought of it all. Actually Lady Madeline Lees, grey-haired widow of a baronet, doesn't live in the manor any more because she can't afford it.

Making the movie fulfilled her life's ambition. Years ago, she watched the villages of Oberammergau in Bavaria, presenting their famous passion play. She vowed she would make Lychett Minster, home of the Lees family for generations, the English Oberammergau.

"The only way to achieve it seemed to be by means of a film," she says.

"My husband and I had been to Palestine. We began to reconnoiter Palestinian scenery in and around Lychett Minster."

Local ponds and streams became the River Jordan. Clay and sand pits served as the desert.

$7,000 Is Final Cost

In the end the movie cost around 2,500 pounds ($7,000). Lady Madeline still has not paid it all off, but British churches are hiring it at 2 pounds ($5.60) a showing, and overseas royalties are flowing in as well.

Lady Madeline's son, 34-year-old Sir Thomas Lees, learned how to handle a movie camera. Roy Gornold, who has had professional movie experience, helped Lady Madeline with her script.

Then the villagers were rounded up for the acting parts. Clifford Mountford, who is studying to be a Methodist minister, played John the Baptist. Lady Madeline's daughter Faith was the Angel Gabriel. Donald Davey, a teacher at the village school, was Joseph. Peter Chown, the local doctor, was chosen as Jesus of Nazareth.

"We picked him because of his outstanding character, bearing and height," Lady Madeline says. He is 6 feet 7 inches tall.

Hundreds of other people living around here were used as Arabs and Roman soldiers.

Mother of Two Given $150,000 For Loss of Leg

NEW YORK (AP)—A mother of two children has been awarded $150,000 for the loss of her right leg as a result of being struck by a car while waiting for a bus.

An all-male State Supreme Court jury deliberated for two hours before reaching a verdict in favor of Mrs. Roslyn Goldman, 27, of Manhattan. Mrs. Goldman is a former teacher for retarded children in Letchworth Village, Ramapo.

The judgment was against Dr. Susan D. Gordon of Spring Valley, owner of the automobile, and her governess, Mrs. Marion D. Pless of Pomona, who was driving her car.

Justice Emilio Nunez stayed execution of the verdict pending appeal.

Mrs. Goldman said she was struck by the car about 2 p. m. on June 17, 1958 while waiting for a bus on Route 45.

Mrs. Pless said she swerved to avoid an oncoming truck.

Your Life And Mine

By CLYDE HERBERT SNELL

FRIENDSHIP'S CHARMING WORD

The arrival of a friend is always a delightful experience. There are some folks we are always glad to see. No matter what time of the day or night they drop in, we never feel that their arrival is an imposition.

The sight of them makes the heart beat a little faster. One of the blessed miracles God somehow manages to perform, over and over again in the midst of the routines of life, is to provide the lift and cheer we need through some fresh contact with a friend. "What would we do without our friends?" as we say. What would we do?

I don't know. Tragic indeed is the lot of any person who does not have at least one good staunch friend. Elizabeth Barrett Browning once asked Charles Kingsley: "What is the secret of your life? Tell me, that I may make mine beautiful also." Thinking a moment, the beloved old author replied, "I had a friend."

But when the persons we like to have around have to leave us, it "gives us inward pain." We resort to all sorts of urgings and techniques, sometimes, hoping to convince our friends to linger with us a little longer. We all know something of what A. Bronson Alcott had in mind when he wrote that "stay" is a charming word in a friend's vocabulary. All of us have used it, at one time or another, in the eager hope that its charm would work.

Of course if we were to be real honest we would have to admit, also, that most of us have been guilty of using friendship's charming word in some instances with the secret wish that its charm wouldn't work. Sometimes we say "stay" when we don't really mean it. We think we must utter the plea to linger, upon some occasion, merely to be decent and nice. But we do it with "tongue in cheek" hoping that the person or persons involved will not find it possible to accept our invitation as "the art of making your guests feel at home when you really wish they were." That, I suppose, is the true test. It isn't too difficult to be hospitable to those whose fellowship is such a delight to us. Then it comes naturally. Then it is but the flowering of the way we feel. But when our graciousness is "put on" it is harder. It takes real ability and tact to extend hospitality when we wish we didn't have to—and keep that negative secret wish from being surmised by our guests.

Once as two discouraged men were walking a sad and lonely road from Jerusalem to Emmaus, a stranger approached and joined them. As evening came on they arrived at "the village whither they were going." They invited the stranger in to stay with them, saying: "Abide with us, for it is toward evening, and the day is now far spent." He accepted their kindly invitation; and their sincere hospitality. And in the course of the evening they made the tremendous and radiant discovery that they were playing host to the resurrected Lord himself.

God abides only in those hearts that utter friendship's charming word—and really mean it!

Why We Say--

TOBACCO 11-14

NAME OF A PIPE: Tobacco was named after a peculiar pipe used by the Indians for smoking tobacco. Sir Walter Raleigh did not, as is sometimes thought, introduce tobacco into England. It was Sir John Hawkins who did so in 1564. He learned of it in India.

Pay Day Mixup Bails 100 Steel Men in Buffalo

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—An apparent mixup at a nearby Bethlehem Steel Co. plant had steelworkers storming away from pay windows without the pre-payday checks the company promised.

Bethlehem announced Thursday that returning steelworkers could draw wage advances up to $100 as soon as they logged equivalent time, estimated at about four days.

Union officials here said about 100 workers applied but no one drew a check. First regular paychecks aren't due until a week from Friday.

"We were sent from the paymaster to the cashier to our superintendent and back to the cashier again," said one worker Friday, "and nobody knew about our pay."

The company issued no statement but indicated it was due to a mixup.

"This can be explained very easily, but officially I can't talk about it," a Bethlehem spokesman said.

Almost all of Bethlehem's 18,000 employees in the Buffalo area are back on the job after the court suspension of the 116-day steel strike.

300 Students Meet Daily For KHS Home Economics

(Editor's note: Today Mrs. Bella H. Crook, chairman of the home economics department of Kingston High School, discusses her program. This is one in a series of articles being presented by The Freeman as a public service in connection with American Education Week.)

Home Economics today is a far cry from the home economics of ten to fifteen years ago. The old idea of homemaking being just cooking and sewing has long vanished, as also, the idea which has been prevalent in many places in the state, that it is a "dumping ground" for students who can not maintain a good scholastic standing.

Homemaking means preparation for life whether the student marries and has a home or expects to be a bachelor-girl, career woman. It has a place in every girl's life.

One of Best Equipped

Kingston High School has one of the largest and best equipped departments in New York State, with a personnel of three (3) teachers: Miss Margaret Schuetz, Miss Muriel Ferraro and Mrs. Bella H. Crook, Department Chairman. Approximately three hundred students meet each day and take some course in homemaking.

The following are just a few of the courses offered:

Homemaking I: An orientation course for ninth and tenth year students who have not had any homemaking.

Homemaking II: (tenth, eleventh and twelfth year level). This course consists of one (1) term of clothing and one (1) term of interior decorating.

Homemaking V: (eleventh and twelfth year level). Looking Forward to Marriage is a study of understanding ourselves and our family relationships, money management, etc.

Child Development

Homemaking VII: (eleventh and twelfth year level). This is a course in Home Care of the Sick.

Homemaking VIII: (eleventh and twelfth year level). This course covers Child Development.

Homemaking X: (eleventh and twelfth year level). Foods and Nutrition is covered in this course.

Homemaking XI: (tenth, 11th and twelfth year level). Clothing-Selection, Care and Construction is covered in this course.

Homemaking is so important that the state recommends every 7th and 8th grade student take, at least, one term of it.

Child Learns Nutrition

Mrs. Nancy H. Grim and Mrs. Hazel Simpkins are the instructors in the Myron J. Michael School for 7th and 8th grade levels and Mrs. Charlotte Hunt is in the George Washington School for the 7th grade level.

In the seventh grade the child learns some nutrition with a small amount of food preparation, how to look her best, stressing personal grooming and how to help at home.

In the eighth grade, the student learns a bit about living happily with the family and friends, some child care and some clothing construction.

We feel that we have a well-rounded program and since our course is mainly on an elective basis, many students can elect, at least, one course in homemaking even though they have a major sequence in some other course.

Varied Opportunities

There are many opportunities for home economic graduates after college. In the field of:

Business, such as: Home service in utility companies, housing and decoration, manufacturing companies, radio and television journalism (newspapers and magazines), research and test kitchens and laboratories.

Extension Service: 4-H Club, home demonstration and extension specialist.

Food Administration: Dietitian (hospitals, institutions, industrial foods), food service (air lines, colleges, schools, cafeterias, hotels, restaurants, etc.) and nutritionists, (government service, health departments, industry, welfare agencies).

Teaching: nursery school, junior high school, senior high school, adult education, college and universities.

Textiles and Clothing—Decorations and Furnishings: buyer and consultant for department store, dress designer, (pattern company), dress maker and fabric testing.

Social Work: county agencies (Red Cross, etc.), public health department, family life counseling and welfare agencies.

An education in Home Economics can prepare the student for a double future, a career as a homemaker and a wage earner.

Mt. Marion

MT. MARION — Miss Sophie Grieb has moved to Lake Hill. Mr. and Mrs. Warren T. Myer and son, Peter of Monsey, and George Myer of Union City, N.J. were weekend guests of Mrs. Warren Myer Sr.

Mathilde Hobush has returned home from Kingston Hospital.

Community League basketball games will begin Monday under the supervision of Paul Borges and Donald Martin.

The Ladies Auxiliary of Mt. Marion-Ruby Fire Company will hold its Christmas banquet at Mt. Marion Inn on December 1.

Boy Scout Troop 138 with Scoutmaster William Kimmins visited Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh last Saturday. The scouts will conduct a salvage drive today.

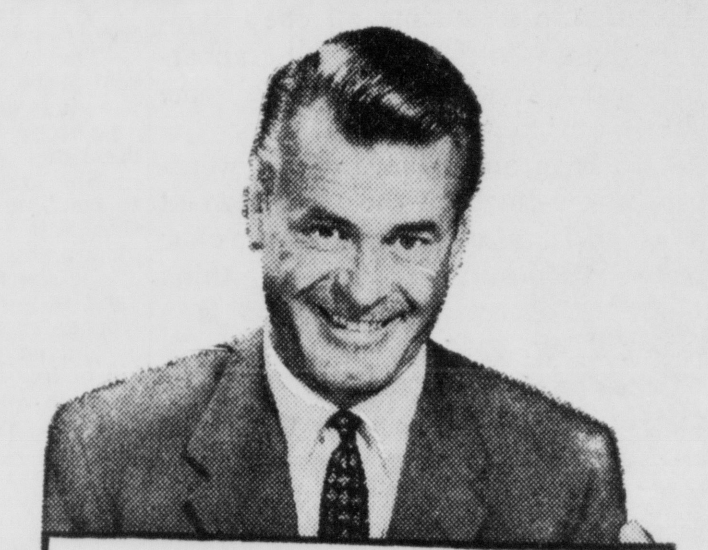

The Women's Guild will hold a Christmas bazaar and dinner in the church hall Thursday night.

The Girl Scouts of the community will hold an open house at the church hall of Plattekill Reformed Church, Mt. Marion on Saturday, Dec. 5 from 2 to 5 p. m. The event will acquaint the community with the work of the Girl Scouts. Candle making, plaques, camp crafts and cooking will be displayed.

Complaint of Exposure

James L. Eckert, 22, of 72 Garden Street, was arrested Friday by Kingston State police on a charge of exposure. He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Arthur Reilly of the Town of Ulster and sentenced to 90 days in the Ulster County Jail. He was arrested on complaint of a Sawkill woman who charged that he exposed himself to her while making a delivery.

LYNCHING AND JUSTICE

Consider the verb, "to lynch." It is an ugly word. It is a word that conjures up nightmare visions of men at their worst, men committing horrors together that they would have neither the courage nor the depravity to commit alone.

Mack Charles Parker was lynched in the little town of Poplarville, Miss., last April. He had been charged with the terrible crime of rape, and he was to stand trial on that charge. But before he was brought to trial a gang of masked men dragged him from the county jail, beat him, shot him, and cast his body into a river.

The men who did those things still walk abroad in freedom. No arrests have been made. A county grand jury returned no indictments against anyone in the case. It did not even consider a voluminous report of an investigation made by the federal government to determine whether the lynch mob had violated the federal kidnap law. Justice, by Poplarville standards, has been done.

Nothing is more clear than that justice has not been done. A community that is content to let such a matter rest has turned its back on the traditions of law and order—and of a decent regard for the life and rights of each individual—upon which civilization is based.

Because of this, we applaud the decision of the U.S. attorney general's office to present the Mack Charles Parker case to a federal grand jury. As a general rule, federal intervention in local criminal proceedings should be held to a minimum. But when the wheels of justice in any part of the country grind to a rusty halt, it is the duty of the republic to start them turning again.

CONSUMER PROTECTION

The big cranberry hullabaloo is no joke to growers, distributors and processors. One large farm group has demanded the political scalp of Arthur Flemming, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare for issuing word that some of this year's crop may be contaminated by a weed-killing chemical. Others whose livelihood depends on cranberries feel only a bit less cantankerous about the matter.

Their attitude is understandable, especially in view of two facts—that only a small fraction of the crop seems to be affected, and that no one knows just how dangerous to human health the weed killer may be. Before expending all one's sympathy on those who grow and sell cranberries, however, it is well to devote some thought to an interesting point.

Here we have an instance of a government agency acting for the protection of that vast, unorganized group known as the consumers. Whatever else one may think about the cranberry incident, that is a heartening thing.

Producers have traditionally received the lion's share of protection and favorable attention from the federal government. Certainly farmers, manufacturers, processors, distributors need and deserve help from the law. But consumers need it too, and deserve it fully as much though they are not as well organized as producer groups. The action of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in warning against possible danger in cranberries is a commendable step.

Recent elections were regarded as straws in the political wind. And various politicians are busy grasping at them.

Sports page headlines tell of football teams that shattered, jarred, upset, whipped, ripped, jolted, trimmed, trounced, battered, topped, edged, beat, tripped, throttled, romped over the opposition. Once in awhile a team is even defeated.

NOT EASILY NOR QUICKLY

CASTRO

The time has come for the United States to assert itself as a nation against a petty little tyrant who employs anti-Yanquism to keep himself in power. Fidel Castro needs a target to stir up his mob but can the United States tolerate his making up his target? Must we tolerate it?

Cuba's two principal sources of income derive from the United States. One is the tourist trade which, in the latter years of the Batista regime, became the leading source of income and the tourists were mostly Americans; the second source, of course, is sugar of which commodity Cuba has been the largest producer in the world.

The United States permits Cuba to produce more than one-third of the sugar consumption of the United States, over 3,000,000 tons a year. The United States pays Cuba three cents a pound more than Cuba could get on the world market. In a word, the United States pays double the world price for sugar and Cuba gets an additional $160,000,000 a year thereby.

If Castro desecrates the American flag again, if he makes any more anti-American speeches, we ought to stop buying sugar in Cuba. The United States can purchase all the sugar it requires within the United States and in Mexico and the Philippines. Castro might attempt to sell his sugar to the Russians but it is doubtful whether they would pay the price the United States pays by law to maintain the economy of Cuba and it is more doubtful that they would want to disturb the economy of the Ukraine, a large beet sugar grower, by bringing in an enormous Cuban crop.

Fidel Castro, like many revolutionists, needs to keep himself in power either by genuine reforms or by developing a foreign target against which he hurls imprecations. It is unsound for the United States to tolerate Castro's impudence because it sets a bad example for other Latin-American countries. There needs to be dignity in such matters.

The United States recognized Castro too early and too rapidly. The State Department assumed that he was a reformer who would end the reign of a dictator. It has never been explained why dictators are had in some countries while acceptable in others. Stalin was an absolute dictator as Khrushchev declared him to be at the 20th Congress of the Russian Communist Party in his Cult of Personality speech. Nevertheless, Franklin D. Roosevelt sat and dined with Stalin and we entertained Khrushchev who is much like Stalin.

We objected to Batista because he was a dictator but took Castro to our hearts without much knowledge of the man and surely without foreknowledge that he would attempt to arouse all of Latin America against us and stimulate an attack on the Panama Canal. This we do not need to take from anybody. The soft policy toward Castro was probably inspired by those in the State Department who believe that when a man shouts, "Democracy!", he must be accepted as an honest and decent person. Do they not know the allegory of "stop thief!"?

The United States remains the best market in the world for the sale of raw materials and manufactured goods. It is sound to use this advantageous market for political purposes. If Cuba seeks to disturb the Latin-American world to the disadvantage of the United States, this country need not assist Cuba economically so that it might be able to do us more harm. That is not only turning the other cheek but it is humiliating ourselves before a lawless and lawless man who seems so much like our own anarchical Beatniks.

Cuba is now a definite peril to the United States. It has interfered in the affairs of the Dominican Republic, Haiti, Nicaragua and Panama. It is too close to Florida to permit it to fall into the hands of Moscow-controlled Latin-American Communists. It stimulates rebellion in other countries and maintains an agitational atmosphere which imperils the peace of the Caribbean.

It is bad enough that Castro exists. He need not be subsidized by the United States. His government is being subsidized by the United States despite the fact that American property and life have been endangered and are constantly being threatened.

Our policy of weakness makes no sense at all—not in the world as we find it today.

Most Gals' Dreams Aimed Lower Than the Golden Peak

In a recent magazine article called "The Lap of Luxury," a wealthy woman was quoted as saying, "I believe women should have some kind of interesting outside activity. So many of them just sit around feeling sorry for themselves, envying people like me."

I get frank and revealing letters from women all over the country. I've been getting them for years. And I have news for the oh-so-rich young women quoted above who think a lot of women are sitting around envying her and her friends.

They aren't.

The average Mrs. America doesn't sit around feeling sorry for herself because she isn't a member of the international set, doesn't get to go to Paris for her clothes, or can't invest a fortune in jewels and furs.

The average Mrs. America is a realist with real problems to solve. So if she does any envying—it is on a much more realistic scale.

She might envy the neighbor who has a laundress or cleaning woman.

She might envy the friend who has been able to combine a job with homemaking because she thinks it would be wonderful to have a little money she could call her own.

Or she might envy the woman who has managed to get a really livable house with plenty of storage space.

But envy women who spend their lives in the lap of luxury? Never.

Such women live in an entirely different world and the average American woman is scarcely aware of their existence.

When a woman wastes time envying another woman, it's usually a woman who doesn't have a lot, but just a little bit more than she has.

There is increasing evidence that bursts of deadly solar radiation will be an effective barrier to space travel until means of protecting men from the rays have been discovered.

The extent of the hazard is described by Commander Malcolm D. Ross, the noted balloonist, in an article published by the naval research office. He writes that manned flights in solar space—that is, in the vast reaches among the planets that spin around the sun—are "quite unrealistic" on the basis of present knowledge.

It is not pessimism that motivates our calling attention to this warning. We do think it wise to temper expectation with realism. The secrets of space are not to be wrested from the universe easily or quickly. The "conquest" of space will be a long haul, perhaps the longest man has ever attempted.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

Here's a little true-life drama from the self-conscious television industry:

Scene: Story conference from big network program. Sponsor—a prime figure in quiz hearings here—interrupts:

Sponsor: "Cut that dialog. I don't like it."

"Writer: 'Oh no... aw... please!'"

Sponsor: "It's gotta go. Like I said, (with icy smile) I'm only trying to fix the program."

Director: "I hear you're very good at that."

Dissolve.

THE TV QUIZ SHOW scandals have produced a rash of puns. Genial Pakistan Press Attache Sayed Haq apologized for this one at an embassy buffet dinner: It concerned a native Pakistan dish called Firni. This is chilled rice pudding and pistachio nuts, covered with silver cake-dusting. "I don't trust anything I see anymore," Sayed cracked, as he helped himself to the desert. "I'll bet this is as Firni as it looks."

TREASURY SECRETARY Bob Anderson was puzzled when he walked into his office and noticed a gadget, which looked like a doorbell, on the wall. He had never seen it before.

His assistant Nils Lennartson explained that it was a special alarm to summon Treasury guards in case of an emergency. It had been installed by former Secretary Henry Morgenthau Jr., and as far as Nils knew hadn't been used since 1945. "It's bound to have been disconnected by now," he said.

Anderson decided to check and pressed the button. Within seconds, two uniformed treasury guards charged into the office.

HOLLYWOOD Yoga instructor Madame Indra Devi tossed a reception here recently at which she passed out copies of her new book on exotic Indian exercises.

While thumbing through it, a government official spotted a picture of a man doing "Simhasana" which is Sanskrit for "Lion Pose." This is a breathing exercise for curing sore throats.

The man was sitting on his heels with his shoulders hunched, his hands pressed flat against his knees and his tongue sticking out.

The official remarked, "Reminds me of the reaction I got the last time I testified before the Senate appropriations committee."

FLAME RESTAURANT Manager Arthur Garis asked a group of diplomats for their opinion of the steel strike. All gave carefully worded, philosophical answers except new French Military Attache Gen. Phillip Gouraud. He has just arrived here after spending several years in North Africa.

"I don't know enough about strikes to say," he replied. "We were never troubled with them in North Africa. No one there has ever organized the sheep and goats."

HERE'S THE LATEST timetable for our first manned flight to the moon, according to a disgruntled Pentagon scientist: "The trip will require at least six days," he says. "Two to get there and four to go through Russian customs."

WASHINGTON WAGS have dubbed the Sheraton-Park Hotel as the Washington zoo annex. So far this year it has housed Rin Tin Tin, Lassie, a basset hound named Morgan Jr., Victoria the kangaroo, a trained chimpanzee, two Russian wolfhounds and a score of monkeys, apes, mice, rats, and guinea pigs which were used in a science demonstration. Next guest will be Herman, a turkey gobbler. He's going to spend two weeks in a cage in the hotel's lobby. Then he'll be converted into Thanksgiving dinner for children in a local orphan's home.

Questions -- Answers

Q—How long have tennis matches been held at Wimbledon, England?

A—In 1877, the first Wimbledon tournament was held, and these have been continued since.

Q—Do any countries still use the rune alphabet?

A—No, it gradually passed out of use. It was used in Scandinavian countries longer than any other region.

Q—Why is Venus often called either the morning or evening star?

A—Venus is often called the morning or evening star, depending on when it is visible.

Q—Why are the Peruvian cities of Lima and Callao cool despite their nearness to the Equator?

A—Because the icy Humboldt current sweeps up the west coast and moderates the climate.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Sometimes one wonders who the builders were of certain structures. The Kingston Weekly Freeman of Thursday, Jan. 12, 1899, has the following:

"W. J. Beardsley, the Poughkeepsie architect, who has a branch office in this city, has recently compiled and published a small booklet on 'A Few Practical Hints on the Requisites of Modern Building.' The booklet is for free distribution. Among the buildings, Architect Beardsley has designed in Kingston are those of Ogden F. Winne and James Van Leuven, the cottages owned by Ezra H. Fitch, 'The Huntingdon,' the Brown apartment house, the Myer building on John Street, the Cordis Building on Wall Street, and the Gray building on Railroad Avenue, besides the big addition to the Church of the Holy Cross."

Here is another item from the same 1899 Freeman.

"Mrs. Catherine Carney, who died at her home on Pine Street, Jan. 4, was a real daughter of the American Revolution, although not a member of the society of that name. She was born at Hurley in 1812. Her father was a soldier in the Revolutionary War, and three of her sons served in the Civil War. Mrs. Carney is survived by four daughters and three sons."

Another item:

"Former City Treasurer, James E. Phinney has been named as superintendent of the works of the Newark Lime and Cement Mfg. Co. in this city, to take the place of the late James G. Linsley, who held the position for many years."

In the days before people had sink water and only knew well water, we also did not know about chlorine in the water. I remember the well in my grandmother's yard. It was always cold and had a strange but pleasant flavor and we all drank it for years, and I never remember it being tested for anything. We did have a little bag through which the water was strained. Many people lived through a long life without ever drinking chlorinated sink water. I know there are times when you turn on the sink water you can actually smell the chlorine, so it seems to me I see in the New York World-Telegram and Sun, of Friday, Nov. 6, 1959, on page 38 an article by C. W. Coates, of the New York Zoological Society. He writes on Tropical Fish, and explains how it is possible to free water from chlorine for gold fish. I quote one line from this article.

"There is no question at all that chlorine, even in small amounts, is highly toxic to fishes; water containing this gas should never be put directly into aquaria. There is also no question about the presence of chlorine in tap water." If it is so bad for gold-fish what does it do to us, over a period of years.

He explains that chlorine is a gas in solution, and as soon as the water is free of pressure, that is, when it leaves the faucet, the chlorine will start to pass out of the water. This is why, he feels, it can be "smelled." He feels that water that has been standing around in an open vessel for an hour or so, will be free of most of the chlorine. Chlorine, a gas which is heavier than air, can also be poured off the top of the water. This may help those who cannot stand the taste and smell of chlorine in water, and also may be the reason gold fish die in such a short time in our water.

Gomez to Speak At IBM Dinner

Vernon "Lefty" Gomez, famed New York Yankees pitcher, will be the featured speaker at the third annual Watson Trophy Dinner of IBM Kingston, tonight in the plant cafeteria.

Two hundred and fifty-three Watson Trophies will be awarded to IBM employees and members of their families for their excellence in plant-sponsored recreation programs during the past year.

The trophy winners participated in softball, golf, basketball, tennis, aquatics, ping pong, archery, horseshoes and bowling. During the 12 years that Lefty pitched for the Yankees, they won seven American League pennants and six World Series. He has an undefeated World Series pitching record of six straight wins, and three All-Star Game victories.

Other participants in the evening's program are McLain B. Smith, IBM vice president and group executive, and Richard J. Whalen, plant general manager. Ronald P. Gibbons, IBM Club President, will serve as master of ceremonies. The invocation will be given by the Rev. Edward Farrelly of St. Mary's Church, Kingston.

Approximately 500 are expected to attend.

Teamwork Praised In Seizing of 3 in Georgia Bank Job

CEDARTOWN, Ga. (AP) — A sheriff said today that perfect teamwork led to the capture of three young men exactly an hour and a half after the $41,522 armed robbery of the Liberty National Bank.

Officers recovered $43,965 from the trio as well as three pistols. The FBI said the sum included the money taken from the bank Friday and additional money believed to have been obtained Monday during a $3,700 supermarket robbery in Atlanta.

Held on robbery charges were three AWOL soldiers from Ft.

Benning. They were identified as Thomas E. Burke, 20, of Alma and formerly of Cedartown; Larry F. McAuslan, 19, of Parish, N. Y.; and Charles R. Sims, 18, of Bernstadt, Ky.

Sheriff John Redding termed the arrests and the recovery of the bank money, "a splendid example of perfect teamwork between law enforcement officers in Northwest Georgia."

The three soldiers were captured when Police Chief Arthur Bentley of Tallapoosa chased the getaway car into a road block set up by Police Chief Henry Martin of Buchanan.

Martin said the trio surrendered without resistance.

"What else are you going to do when you're looking at the business end of a shotgun," officers quoted Burke.

Police Chief William Moss said the men asserted they had an appointment with the bank president, Fred Brewster, then drew pistols, tied up 11 employees, and scooped up cash and checks from the vault and the tellers' cages.

The Georgia Bureau of Investigation said checks stolen in the Atlanta robbery were found in the car driven by the trio.

The robbery, police chase, and arrests climaxed an 11-day search by Atlanta police and Army authorities for the men.

At Parish in Upstate New York, Mrs. John O. McAuslan said she learned only last week that her son was AWOL from Ft. Benning.

She said he returned to the United States in July after an assignment in Korea. He joined the Army in November, 1957.

Rocky Is Mixing Football With Politics Today

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Nelson A. Rockefeller mixes football with his political tour of the Far West today as he swings north into Oregon for visits to three university campuses and two addresses.

The New York Republican governor, still staunchly disavowing any present intention to run for the GOP presidential nomination, will speak first to students at the University of Oregon here.

His busy schedule includes a 40-mile flight to Corvallis to attend the Oregon State-Stanford football game, and a 26-mile drive to Salem for a dinner talk at Willamette University.

After the Willamette speech his schedule includes a closed meeting with GOP Gov. Mark Hatfield's cabinet. He will fly to Seattle Sunday morning.

In San Francisco Friday he met in closed conference with local Republican leaders, spoke at a civic luncheon, and dined atop Nob Hill at the exclusive Pacific Union League Club.

Rockefeller told the Oregon students in his prepared speech he is a relative newcomer to politics and that before he ran for governor in 1958 he "had no genuine appreciation of the role that the political parties as such play in our system of government."

"I fear this area of ignorance is only too common in America," he said.

The governor urged the college boys to join the political party of their choice and become active workers.

"These are the unsung heroes of our system," he declared.

Quiet Meal Almost Proves Last One

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — A quiet meal in a local restaurant almost turned into tragedy for retired businessman Arthur D. Rose.

A peace of meat lodged in his windpipe. Choking, he lost consciousness.

Dr. Robert Rand, dining at a nearby booth, grabbed a steak knife from a waiter. He sliced Rose's windpipe as another diner held a flashlight in the dim restaurant Wednesday night.

Rose is recovering in a hospital.

Business Learns

bly line. It said its other assembly plants are scheduled to operate next week for three or four days.

Pennsylvania Railroad halted its big freight car-building program in Altoona, Pa., because steel was exhausted. The plant, 3,500 men out of work, carried over 100 million dollars in orders.

Merchants Gloomy

Strike area merchants weren't optimistic about the immediate outlook. They were expecting minimum purchases from workers who have accumulated bills during the long layoff and who hope to put some money aside in case the strike resumes after the court-ordered 80-day cooling off period.

For the country as a whole, retail trade climbed two to six per cent this week over the same week a year ago.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange was 16,195,437 shares and was not comparable with the previous week's total because of the election day holiday when the exchange was closed. Average daily turnover, however, was 3,239,087 shares compared with 3,470,992 the prior week.

Corporate bond trading amounted to $34,326,000 par value compared with $26,153,000 the previous week and $39,806,000 a year ago.

Business in Brief

Retail industry leaders predicted sales in 1959 will exceed 200 billion dollars, the highest in history. They looked, too, for the biggest Christmas business ever.

Briefly around the business scene: F.W. Dodge Corp. forecasts construction contracts in 1960 will drop slightly from the record volume expected this year; blames anticipated decline in home building ... U.S. industry is planning to spend $37,300,000,000 — 10 per cent more than this year — on new plants and equipment next year ... Manufacturers produced 4,888,857 television sets in the first nine months of this year compared with 3,572,189 in the 1958 period ... Bell Aircraft Corp. blames decline in government defense business for a $1,500,000 weekly drop in its payroll in three years ... General Electric President Robert Paxton, warning appliance prices will rise if steel costs go up, says, "We have no magic wand to halt inflation." ... Bank robbers got away with $1,407,007 in 268 hold-ups in fiscal 1959 but women tellers frustrated 39 attempts ... More people are taking winter vacations and spending money now. Matson Lines reports Pacific bookings up 28 per cent; a group of Miami hotels says reservations are 25 per cent higher than last year.

Example of Lunch

The package lunch program complies with the National School Program requirements. Johnson points out. The following is a good example of the package lunch: Sliced ham sandwiches, potato salad, fresh peach, half pint of milk. Also within each stapled package is a spoon, napkin and straw.

The following is an outline of the National School Program requirements for a Type A package lunch:

Half pint of whole milk as a beverage, two ounces of fresh or processed meat, poultry, cooked or canned fish, or cheese; peanut butter; or one egg; six ounces (three-quarters cup) of raw, cooked or canned vegetables and/or fruit; one portion of bread, muffin, or other bread made of whole grain cereal or enriched flour, and two tablespoons of butter or fortified margarine.

Johnson points out that a number of people fear that the package lunch program might eliminate the hot lunch program. This would only be true in the smaller schools, however.

During the school year 1958-59 School Lunch 2 through 8 lost approximately $8,000 in the lunch program.

Navy Jettisons Mail Bound for Orient

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — If you sent any first class mail to military personnel in Hawaii, the Philippines or Formosa, which would have reached San Francisco on Nov. 7 and 8, you might as well do it all over again.

The Navy says mail accumulating here on those two days was jettisoned by a Military Air Transport Service Globemaster Nov. 10 after it lost two engines and turned back to Hamilton Air Force Base. The big plane tossed overboard 11 tons of cargo to enable it to limp back on its two remaining engines.

CSEA Will Meet On Monday Night

A meeting of the Ulster County Chapter of Civil Service Employees Association is scheduled to be held Monday, Nov. 16 in the Board of Public Works luncheon room at 8 p. m.

James P. Martin, president, said a social will be held after the business session.

Touhy, Nearing Freedom, Claims He's Not Bitter

JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — Roger Touhy, soon to be released from Stateville Prison after serving 25 years for a kidnapping he says he did not commit, is not bitter.

"I hold no grudge, and I'm not looking for revenge," the 61-year-old former Chicago gangster said Friday night. "I'm not bitter. I just want to get out of here."

Earlier Friday Touhy, known as "the Terrible" in the prohibition era when he was a gang leader with a working agreement with the old Al Capone gang, was granted a parole. Officials said he will leave Stateville as soon as his prospective home and employment have been checked, probably in a week or 10 days.

Touhy, crippled, slight and graying, smiled as he talked to reporters about his parole.

"All I want is to live in peace for the few years left for me," Touhy said. "I will be thankful for the rest of my life for the mercy already shown me by the governor and the (Parole and Pardon) Board."

He was convicted and sentenced to 99 years in 1934 for the kidnapping of John (Jake the Barber) Factor, a one-time confidence man and now a California real estate dealer. He was given an additional 199-year sentence in 1942 for escaping from Stateville with six other convicts. He was recaptured after 83 days.

Court Suspends Magistrate Over Leniency for 2

NEW YORK (AP) — Magistrate Anthony E. Maglio has been suspended pending disposition of charges that he mishandled the arraignment of two youths accused of beating a patrolman with an iron pipe.

Maglio, 47, was suspended Friday by the Appellate Division in Brooklyn on petition of Chief Magistrate John M. Murtagh. The division ordered Maglio to answer Murtagh's charges of misconduct next Friday.

"I still stand on the minutes of the trial," commented Maglio after the suspension was ordered. "I'll do all my answering to the Appellate Division, where the matter should have been sent in the first place, if it was going to be sent anywhere at all."

The statement was an implied rebuke to Mayor Robert F. Wagner who has asked for his ouster. Wagner accused Maglio of ignoring his requests to explain his apparent leniency toward Jack Mirabile, 21, and Vincent Cappello, 20, accused of beating off-duty patrolman Frank Mingo, 24, on Oct. 25. Maglio released the two without bail and reduced charges from felonies to misdemeanors.

Wagner said Maglio ignored two requests for an explanation. The mayor directed Murtagh to file charges against Maglio.

Maglio was reappointed by Wagner last August to his $16,000-a-year post. He first was appointed 10 years ago by former Mayor Vincent Impellitteri.

Patrolman Mingo had taken charge of a Brooklyn gas station owned by a brother-in-law who was running an errand when Mirabile and Cappello drove up, he said. Mingo charged that the youths raised a rumpus, refused to leave, derided him when he identified himself as a policeman and beat him with an iron bar.

Drop 31 Mountain Area Leases Used In Probe for Gas

Thirty-one leases on more than 6,700 acres of mountain property in the Lexington-Hunter area, Greene County held by New York State Natural Gas Corp., Pittsburgh, Pa. for natural gas exploration were cancelled, it was announced this week.

Most of those cancelled were in the Lexington area including 3,692 acres. Many of those whose leases were dropped said the firm had not drilled on their property.

Some of the owners of lands on which the company has leases said they had not been notified that the leases had been dropped.

The Pittsburgh firm is one of three which held leases in the mountain top areas for gas explorations.

Dome Gas and Oil Corp., hit a pocket of natural gas in 1956 at Allaben, Ulster County but the yield was not great enough to continue the operation. All three firms still hold leases on several thousand acres in Greene County.

United Carbon Company of Charlestown, Va. withdrew its casing at a well in Mitchell Hollow in March where for 15 months it had been drilling for gas. The firm went down 7,500 feet where the drill struck granite bedrock.

A large gas pocket was struck on May 16 last year and at the time officials hoped that enough was in evidence for commercial production. The flow at the 4,500-foot level was estimated at 3,000,000 cubic feet but it soon dropped to an estimated 100,000 cubic feet, and then ceased.

Two leases was cancelled by the Pittsburgh firm covering 130 acres in Hunter area. Releases were recorded in Greene County Clerk's Office.

Bandit Is Foiled, Picks Wrong Auto

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — A bandit dashed from a market and jumped into a parked car, gun in hand, thinking it was his getaway car.

Sitting in the car Friday was the husband of a woman the bandit had just robbed. They grasped, and the husband, Homer McAfee, 34, disarmed Joseph Williams.

Williams, 38, admitted to police he robbed Mrs. McAfee of $75 after taking $300 from a cash register. He told officers he thought McAfee's car belonged to a man who gave him the gun and was to drive him away.

Police picked up the man, who denied having anything to do with the case.

How to Save Heating Fuel

You may look to your heating and plumbing contractor not only for advice on the operation of your heating system but also for suggestions on how to save fuel.

Here are fuel-saving tips gleaned from a heating and plumbing contractor's notebook:

1. Lower thermostat setting at night and when away from home for extended periods, as over weekends. Dropping inside temperatures from 70 to 55 degrees for 12 hours, while the family is away for the night, could result in a fuel saving of approximately 28 per cent.

2. Keep attic ventilators, trap doors, or other openings closed during cold weather.

3. Single or double cloth window shades pulled down over windows at night prevent heat loss through thermal resistance. Good fit of shades is important.

4. Close fireplace damper when not in use. Be sure you have a tight-fitting damper.

5. Close off sleeping rooms, hall, and unused adjoining rooms at night. If windows in sleeping rooms are open at night, be sure the doors to the bedrooms fit tight. If they don't it will pay you to weather strip the doors.

6. Storm windows, storm doors, and good insulation, especially in the ceiling, will help you save money on fuel.

Most important fuel-saving tip of all is to have the heating system kept in first-class operating condition at all times.

'The Ashtabula' . . . A Trim Ranch House Of Distinctive Design

Rooms . . . . . Six
Bedrooms . . . . . Two
Closets . . . . . Seven
Cubage . . . . . 25,500 ft.
Dimensions . . . . . 59' x 24'

You'll need a sizable lot of land on which to build the Ashtabula for it measures 59 by 24 feet; at least a 70-foot lot would be required and a larger one will give a more attractive setting for this rambling ranch house.

Shingles Advised
Shingles or clapboards will make the most attractive exterior finish for this house. Use colorful roofing to add a touch of brightness to the exterior. Simple landscaping is best with a house of this type, although a small terrace, as used in the illustration, is very attractive.

The plain front entrance is in line with the architectural simplicity of the house. A handy clothes closet is located in the right wall of the entry hall. An open archway at the left leads into the spacious living room. The smaller arch at the end of the entry hall leads into the central hallway connecting with the bedrooms in the right wing of the house as well as with the bath and central closet area.

Located as they are along the left wall of this central hallway, this central closet area utilizes every available inch for valuable storage space.

To the right off the central hall are the bedrooms both of which measure 13 by 11 feet. With windows on two exposures, both these rooms reap the benefits of cross-ventilation and plenty of light.

Furniture arrangement should be no problem in the 18 by 12-foot living room although there are connecting doors or archways as preferred from the hall, the den and the living and dining room. These doorways are so placed that traffic does not pass through the center of the living room.

Reached through a door in the back wall of the living room, the den measures 11' by 8' feet. Well-lit by a large window in the back wall and containing a good-sized closet, this room could serve as a third bedroom or double as a guest room.

Living-Dining Room
The living and dining room is meant to be just what its name implies. If you prefer to use it just as a dining room you can, of course, do just that. Measuring 14 feet 6 inches by 10 feet it is one of the most attractive rooms in the Ashtabula and one of the best-lighted. A French door, flanked by paneled windows, is located in the center of the front wall; there is another French door also flanked by paneled windows in the back wall.

Both these doors open out on porches or sun decks; the choice is up to you. Modern open planning is typified by rooms such as this which use plenty of window and door space to bring the outdoors inside, thus adding to the feeling of spaciousness and also capitalizing upon the beauty of the surrounding landscape. Be sure to take advantage of this in placing your dining room set.

Stairs to the cellar also open off this room. A door in the right wall conceals them from view. Another door, just beyond the stairway, leads to the compact kitchen. Except for a small section of the front wall, counters and appliances line all the wall space in this 10 by 8-foot kitchen.

The refrigerator is centered in the front wall; cabinets extend from this along the right wall and back walls to the sink which is placed under a window. Another section of cabinets extend from the sink to the stove against the left wall. In a kitchen as small as this there is, of course, no room for a breakfast nook. However, there is a compensation in that it's very easy to prepare meals in so small an area as everything you need is but a few steps away.

Whether you decide upon a full or partial cellar for the Ashtabula, have the heating plant installed under the living room and the laundry under the kitchen. Be sure to provide direct access to the yard from the cellar so you won't have to go traipsing through the house every time you want to go out in the yard from the basement.

Blueprints Available
Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost. Address requests to Home of the Week, Inc., Dept. KF, 87 Weybosset Street, Providence, R. I.

21 RVC Seniors To Enter Schools, Higher Learning

Twenty-one members of the Class of 1959 of Rondout Valley Central School have entered institutions of higher learning, it was announced by Russell Van Regenmortel, director of guidance.

This represents almost 62 per cent of the class of 34 students. Barry Banks, Bruce Barthel, James Bentivegna, Warren Cairo, Peter Oberlander, and Donald Wise have entered Orange County Community College.

Allen Bogartz and Padraic Colvin are attending State University College of Education, New Paltz.

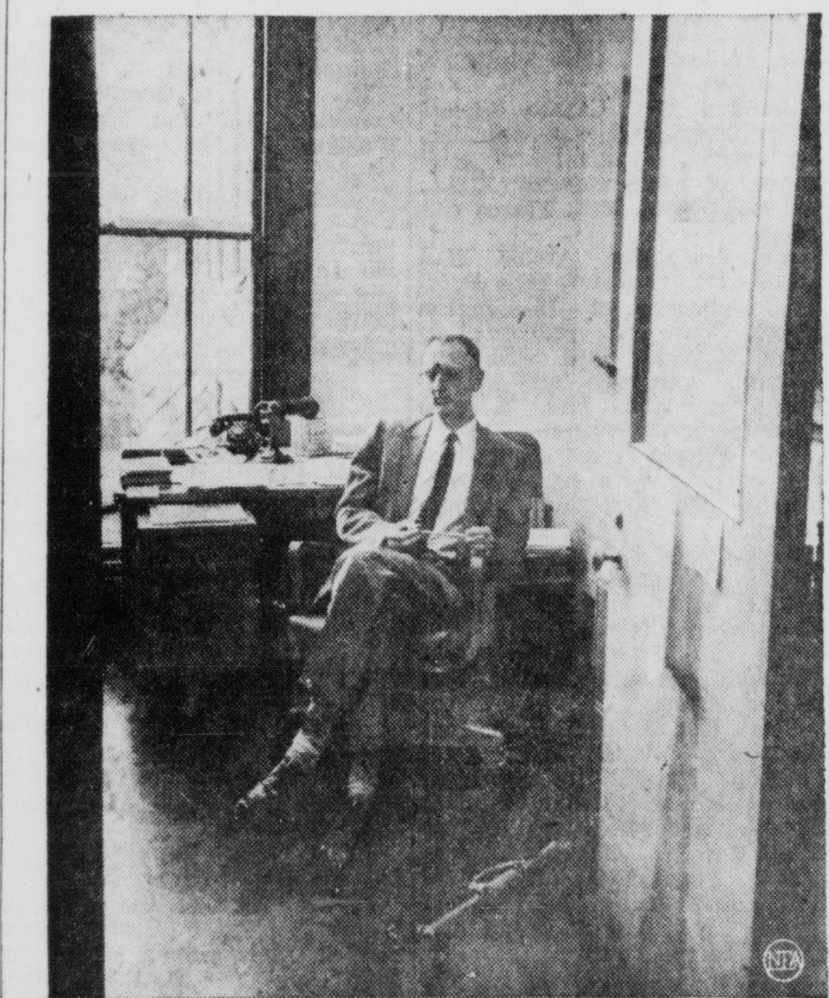

Others continuing their education include Thomas Chiappetta at the University of Alabama; Diane Christiana at Krissler's Business Institute; Gayle Jones at Grasslands Hospital School of Nursing; Mary Ann Kilgannon at Trinity College; Myrna Krom at Stetson University; Rita Levine at State College of Education at Oneonta; and Joyce Makowsky at Syracuse University.

Also, Spencer Donald Quick at State College of Education at Albany; Fred Sherman at State Agricultural and Technical Institute, Canton; Marvin Stoddard at State Agricultural and Technical Institute at Alfred; Carolyn Wood at Hope College; Irene Wustau at the Austin School of Beauty Culture; and Robert Waters at University of Florida.

Clifford Booth and Charles Barnum have entered the Navy, while James Smith and Dennis Waruch are waiting to be called into the service. Jerry Tapper has entered the field of agriculture, and the rest of the class has entered the world of business. These include Daniel Bober, Tina Carmel, Patricia Filkins, Vincent Gallagher, Shirley Lee, Gary Miller, Barbara Smith, and Jacqueline Smith.

During 1957, there were 83,391 forest fires in the United States.

Window Space Vital in Kitchen

Great stress has been placed on the kitchen's efficient design and on its appliances. Sometimes, however, the utility and appearance of kitchen windows are neglected.

Windows should do these things for a kitchen:

They should provide abundant light because the kitchen is the home's principal work center.

They should ventilate quickly to replace cooking heat and odors with fresh air.

To Ventilate
To ventilate properly, kitchen windows should open and close readily, especially those that must be opened at arm's length over a sink or counter.

Windows also should add beauty to the kitchen and a pleasant view plus the opportunity to watch and supervise the children at play outside.

The correct kitchen windows are important, too. They should not interfere with work by swinging inward over sink or counter areas.

Too little window area is a common kitchen mistake. The small homes council of the University of Illinois, for example, analyzed kitchen plans for 103 mass-produced homes and tabulated common kitchen planning errors.

Insufficient Windows
Insufficient windows ranked as one common error. Another common window error found was a stubborn, double-hung window over a counter or sink.

A good casement window, swinging out so as not to interfere with work, will operate easily and give twice as much ventilation as a double-hung window.

Kitchen windows also should be planned for a view in standing, sitting, and counter-sitting heights.

For safety's sake, there should be no operating windows behind a stove.

Hearing Urges Stronger Traffic Law Enforcement

ALBANY—Support for stronger traffic laws, as proposed by the Joint Legislative Committee on Motor Vehicles and Traffic Safety, was pledged at a public hearing held today in Albany by the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety.

Speaking for the insurance safety organization of Washington, D. C., William H. Franey commended State Senator Edward J. Speno of East Meadow, L. I., committee chairman, and other committee members, and their predecessors for their "fine contribution to safe and efficient highway transportation in the State of New York."

Franey warned, however, that there was no room for complacency and that unless the committee was empowered to continue its work and unless the proposed legislation was passed at the next session of the Legislature, the state may be facing a "grim future."

From 1949 through 1958, he pointed out, the state had nearly two million traffic deaths and injuries. Although motor vehicle registration has increased 42 per cent in this 10-year period, he said, casualties (deaths and injuries) have increased 120 per cent.

"By projecting these increases percentage-wise," Franey said, "there will be 7,700,000 motor vehicles in New York State by 1969, and traffic casualties will reach more than 600,000 for that year. In terms of our most valuable resource, our manpower, we cannot afford to pay this price—not, and continue to say that we are civilized humanitarians."

How to Avoid Dents

You can avoid hammering dents into the surface of a wood-working project by placing a piece of perforated hardboard over the wood. Nail through the perforation until the nail head is flush with the hardboard surface, then complete the nail driving with a nail set. Enlarge one of the holes in the hardboard with a drill before using large-headed nails.

Brightening Kitchen

An old kitchen can be given a new glow by simply covering the old walls with plastic surfaced paneling, which is available in a variety of pleasant colors. Wallboard adhesive is used to secure the paneling to the old walls. Plastic-surfaced hardboard can be kept bright and clean with an occasional washing.

Fix That Bulge

To repair bulges in wallpaper, split the bulge with a sharp knife and then use an ear syringe to inject library paste in back of the paper. Press the paper back in place and wipe off the excess paste that might come up through the split.

TELEVISION IN DEPTH—Item of interest to hunters of sunken treasure: the Navy now has an underwater television camera that can make visual surveys of sunken ships more than 600 feet below the surface. Shown being lowered over the side, above, the camera is mounted in a self-propelled vehicle and can be controlled from the ship. It is able to hover at desired depths and carries an underwater lighting system. If fitted with mechanical arms, the vehicle could collect samples from the ocean floor or retrieve sunken objects, say its makers, Vare Industries of Roselle, N.J.

Mayors Uphold 20-MPH Limit

ALBANY, N. Y. (A) — The New York State Conference of Mayors carries to the Motor Vehicles Bureau today opposition to proposed legislation that would outlaw 20-mile-an-hour speed limits within municipalities.

Approximately 30 mayors voted at a one-day meeting Thursday to send representatives to today's hearing by the bureau on the proposal.

The conference said a survey among 347 communities showed that only 21 imposed the 20-mile speed limits.

"For the most part, the 20-mile limit in these communities is warranted because of peculiar conditions that exist," the conference said, "and we feel it is unrealistic for the state to take away from communities the right to regulate its own speed limit."

The mayors also voted for a study to determine how state and federal urban renewal projects may be coordinated.

Many plans have been delayed because the "red tape is disgraceful," City Manager Albert Abrams of Newburgh said.

Mayor Joseph Suozzi of Glen Cove, L. I., called for legislation that would require closer cooperation between welfare departments and health and building authorities in an effort to combat slums.

He said some welfare departments were paying rents on properties that are substandard.

"This problem could be surmounted if welfare bodies only paid rents on accommodations certified by the local health and building inspectors to comply with their regulations," Suozzi said.

Knotty or Not

Western pine paneling comes in both knotty and clear grades. For an unusual effect, try painted knotty pine with the knots allowed to bleed through.

Slots Support Iron

Slot shaped like a "V" cut in opposite sides of an empty coffee tin provide an ideal support for a hot soldering iron. The space inside the tin holds rolls of solder and a can of flux.

Time for Clean-Up

It's a good idea to always stop painting about a half an hour before you have to. This gives you time to do a good job of cleaning your paint brushes or paint rollers.

Mix Fixes Cracks

Cracks that appear between strips in wood flooring can be satisfactorily filled with a mixture of wood glue and fine sawdust. The sawdust is often sold commercially as wood flour.

Clean Laundry

Oral Drugs First Modern Gain in Diabetes Control

Oral drugs have recently been developed which promise continued improvement in the well-being of diabetics, Dr. Curtis P. Bight, chairman of the diabetes detection drive, declared today.

He asserted that these oral compounds were important even though they were not the answer for all diabetics, many of whom must continue to use insulin. They are important, he noted, because they represent the first major advance in diabetes research since the discovery of insulin 38 years ago.

Dr. Bight's comments were occasioned by the advent of Diabetes Week, which the Medical Society of the County of Ulster is sponsoring from Nov. 15-21. A county-wide detection drive will be conducted during the week to discover diabetics who have the ailment and are unaware of it.

The new oral drugs are tolbutamide, chlorpropamide and phenformin.

"However restricted in application these drugs may be at present," he said, "they represent a sound basis for belief that life will continue to improve for the 1,000,000 known diabetics today, as well as for the 1,000,000 presently undiagnosed diabetics and also the 4,750,000 more Americans who will develop the condition some time during their lives."

Dr. Bight emphasized that diabetics today have little cause for alarm. Insulin keeps severe cases under good medical control; and careful diet and adequate sleep and exercise are the answer for less severe diabetics. Some will benefit by the addition of the new oral drugs.

"The only real danger is, for the most part, in neglect of the condition," he asserted, "and this danger applies particularly to the 1,000,000 Americans who have diabetes and don't know it, because the ailment often exists in hidden form. That is why it is important to take the simple test for diabetes."

This painless test, which can be taken in a minute, is being made available to all members of the county in conjunction with the nationwide detection drive of the American Diabetes Association. The test kits are made available locally at every drugstore through the courtesy of the Medical Society of the County of Ulster.

A year-round activity, the drive is given special emphasis during Diabetes Week. The effort is entirely educational and in no way concerned with the solicitation of funds.

Peekskill Airman Killed in Crash

CLARKSDALE, Miss. (AP) — A single-engine plane from the Greenville Air Force Aero Club crashed in a cotton field near here Friday and killed both Air Force men aboard.

They were A. 2. C. John K. Harris, 20, of Dyess, Ark., and A. 2. C. George Kirstoferson, 19, of Peekskill, N. Y. Both were stationed at Greenville AFB.

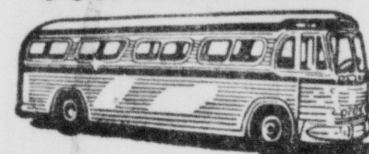

Coroner Burnell Birdson said several witnesses reported hearing the engine of the Aeronca Champion coughing before the plane plunged to earth.

$5.03 Milk Price

NEW YORK (AP) — Farmers will be paid $5.03 per hundred-weight (46.5 quarts) for milk delivered during October to pool plants in the New York-New Jersey milkshed.

This figure, announced Friday, is 17 cents above the October 1958 price, and 14 cents above that of last September.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Our Town" was revisited Friday night, and it is always a warm, pleasant journey.

The Thornton Wilder play is becoming one of the most familiar of the American theater. The film version still appears on TV, and a TV musical with Frank Sinatra is well remembered. Two Los Angeles troupes are playing it now, another is in New York, and it is a favorite with amateur theaters everywhere.

Remaining Ever Green

Yet "Our Town" remains ever green, as the NBC version starring Art Carney proved. It is not so much a drama as a series of observations of American life and death, love and marriage. Nearly all of the observations are apt and valid.

Friday night's version was well acted and directed, except for a breathless love scene. Carney was the only big name in the cast, and the unfamiliarity of the performers made everything seem homely and credible.

The casting of Carney was sound. His Yankee accent seemed real, and he played the stage manager with restraint, as it must be. He was not perfect, as was the late Frank Craven who originated the role. Craven somehow did not seem to be acting; he simply was the man Wilder picked to interpret the joy and sadness of Grover's Corner, N.H.

A note about the commercials. It is jarring to be wrenched from the New England quiet into a long singing commercial by five bouncing chorus boys. But maybe the sponsor's message is meant to jar, rather than blend with the dignity of a remarkable play.

NBC also offered "Music from Shubert's Alley." It included a lot of musical comedy tunes, most of them admirably done.

All Do Good Job

Andy Williams was emcee, as a reward for having brightened the dismal summer season with his replacement show. He was personable, reading his cue cards with obvious skill.

The dancing was fine and spirited, and Alfred Drake, Doretta Morrow, Ray Walston, and Lisa Kirk did their familiar numbers with zest. They belted their songs as they should be belted, in contrast to the sloppy work of some of Hollywood's big stars on recent specials.

Binghamton Woman Killed in 26 Crash

ENDICOTT, N. Y. (AP)—Mrs. Shirley Lindsey, about 24, of Binghamton, was killed today when an automobile in which she was riding left Route 26 near here and overturned.

Four other passengers in the car, including her husband, Richard, 24, were injured, none seriously.

U. S. Astronauts, Wives in Gotham For Shows, Dinner

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's seven Astronauts and their wives are in New York for a week end of relaxation.

"We just came in to spend a week end, see a couple of shows and have dinner," said Capt. Donald K. Slayton, 35, of Sparta, Wis. Slayton arrived Friday with his wife and four other Astronauts and their wives. Two other Astronauts and their wives had arrived earlier.

Slayton was asked by newsmen if the Astronauts are confident they can travel into space and return safely to earth.

"One hundred per cent," he replied. "Oh, hell, yes. There's no doubt about it."

Back in Norfolk, Va., Lt. Col. John H. Powers, press chief for Project Mercury, said the future spacemen have graduated from basic instruction in propulsion systems to more specific and complicated training with the actual equipment they will use.

YES, WE HAVE BANANAS—It's easy to grow a banana tree, according to Ralph Harmon. Harmon, manager of a grocery store in Cincinnati, got the tree from his father's place in Florida. In Ohio, the tree was planted and grew from six inches to 12 feet in seven months. But fall air began nipping at the plant and Harmon decided to winter it in the store. He's thinking of cutting a section from the store ceiling to see how well it'll do indoors.

Ottaway Group Buys Middletown And Port Papers

ENDICOTT, N. Y. (AP)—Ottaway Newspapers-Radio Inc. announced Friday the purchase of The Middletown Times-Herald and The Port Jervis Union-Gazette.

The transaction increased to seven the number of Ottaway newspapers.

William C. Lundquest, who had been general manager of the Plattsburgh Press-Republican until earlier this week, was named general manager of the Middletown newspaper. The Plattsburgh paper also is owned by the Ottaway company.

Ralph C. Frederick will remain with the Port Jervis paper as general manager.

The two afternoon dailies, merged a year ago, have been owned by R. J. Co. Inc., headed by Ralph Ingersoll. The purchase price was not disclosed.

The president of the Ottaway corporation is James H. Ottaway of Endicott.

Other Ottaway papers are The Endicott Bulletin, The Oneonta Star, The Danbury (Conn.) News-Times and The Stroudsburg (Pa.) Record.

Ottaway has radio stations in Endicott, Oneonta and Stroudsburg.

Ghent Girl Killed

CHATHAM, N. Y. (AP)—Joanne Bonifacio, 17, of Ghent Village, was killed Friday night when an automobile in which she was riding struck a utility pole about two miles from this Columbia County community.

Hunter's Death Is Ruled Accidental

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. A coroner describes as accidental the death of a hunter whose body was found in woods near Lake Desolation, Saratoga County.

Francis McElroy, 37, of Schenectady, had been missing since Wednesday. State Police and volunteers found his body Friday.

Coroner William Hickey said McElroy had shot himself accidentally.

Impending Layoffs

Carrier Offers Employees Loans Minus Interest

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — The Carrier Corp. is offering $40-a-week, interest-free loans to employees during four weeks of impending layoffs.

The company said Friday the layoffs of most of its 3,100 employees would be staggered. The plant is expected to be almost idle the weeks of Nov. 23, Nov. 30, Dec. 14 and Dec. 28.

A spokesman said a shortage of steel had curtailed production of refrigerators and air conditioners and necessitated the layoffs.

The loans, to be made by a bank, will be available for up to five weeks, with 50 weeks allowed for repayment. Carrier will pay the interest and service charges.

Youth Killed by Truck

OSWEGO, N. Y. (AP)—Walter G. McCracken Jr., 16, of Oswego, was killed Friday night when hit by a truck on Route 104 west of the city. He had been pushing a bicycle along the highway.

8 Fire Victims, All One Family, Buried on Friday

HUDSON FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—A husband and wife and their six young children, victims of a fire that destroyed their home, were buried Friday.

Mrs. Janet Harris, 24, and the children, ranging in age from six months to six years, died in the fire Tuesday. Her husband Charles, 26, died several hours later in a hospital.

Four hearses carried the bodies from a funeral home here to Scotch Cemetery, a few miles from the site of the fire.

The family had planned to move into a new home Wednesday.

Police said fire flashed through the family's home after Harris apparently had poured gasoline or kerosene into a wood stove in the living room.

Neighbors found Harris lying on the ground outside the house, his clothes aflame. His wife and children were trapped in the house.

Dies of Injuries

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Fletcher Riley, 70, of Syracuse, died Friday night in a hospital of injuries suffered in a two-car collision that killed another man.

Riley was hurt in the crash near the Berkshire Spur interchange of the Thruway Sunday. He was a passenger in an automobile that struck a car parked at the side of the superhighway.

Robert Lomax, 45, of Syracuse, died shortly after admission to Albany Hospital.

Major Fines Colonel

ROME, N. Y. (AP)—An Army Reserve lieutenant colonel has been fined $15 by a major of the same outfit.

The major, Abraham H. Baker, happens to be city court judge in civilian life. He fined Harry A. Carlson, the lieutenant colonel, for driving 50 miles an hour in a 30-mile zone.

Both are reserves in the 133rd Logistical Command.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

Author of "Children Are People" and "Etiquette," etc.

HAVING TO EAT OFTEN
Dear Mrs. Post: I have an ulcer and because of it can eat very little at one time. I do, however, have to eat often. When I am at home I usually have a glass of milk or a cracker or two when I begin to feel a pain. When I go visiting this presents quite a problem. Would it be proper when in someone else's house to ask the hostess for a cracker should I feel the need for it?

Answer: I think the simplest thing to do would be to carry a few crackers in your purse and should you feel the need for them, say, "Please don't pay any attention to me, but I have to have this." It is just the same exactly as if you had to take a pill.

Addressing Letter to A Boy

Dear Mrs. Post: There are occasions when I have to address letters to my employer's young son who will be thirteen shortly. Up to now I have prefixed the title Master to his name. I was told the other day that this is incorrect and that he is much too old to be addressed as Master. Will you please tell me if I am wrong, and if so how should he be correctly be addressed?

Answer: A boy of thirteen is too old to be addressed as Master and too young for Mr. and at that age he should be addressed as John Smith without a title.

Cutting Salad With A Knife

Dear Mrs. Post: When salad (such as lettuce and tomato) is served, is it permissible to cut the tomato and lettuce with a knife? I think it is but a friend of mine insists that it is most improper to cut salad with a knife and that a fork alone is correct. Will you settle this, please?

Answer: It was always correct to cut salad with silver knives, but because the vinegar in the salad turned the old-fashioned steel knives black, these could not be used. It is correct to use the modern stainless steel knives just as though they were silver.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-8, entitled "Today's Typical Wedding" send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

AHRC Convention Held in Spring Valley; New Officers and Committees Are Named

Robert H. Wagner, Rochester attorney, and member of the Monroe County chapter, AHRC, was elected president of the New York State Association for the Help of Retarded Children during the state convention held at the Bader Hotel, Spring Valley, Nov. 6, 7, and 8.

Other state officers elected were: Augustus M. Jacobs, New York City attorney, first vice president; Thomas Lotz, Rome State School, second vice president; Sidney Van Deusen, Upper Hudson County, third vice president; Mrs. Helen Kaplan, Nassau County, secretary; and Max W. Schachter, New York City, treasurer.

Members of the nominating committee also elected at this session were: Region 1, James Maroon of New City, Rockland County chapter; and David Groberg, Welfare League chapter, Letchworth Village; Region 2, William Patten, Upper Hudson chapter; and Paul Herman, Saratoga; Region 3, William Donovan, Onondaga County chapter; and Marvin Clark, Broome County chapter; Region 4, Mrs. Helene Rothchild, Monroe County chapter; and Carl Schmidt, of Monroe County.

Mrs. Donovan Buehring, Ulster County chapter, AHRC Adviser, was appointed chairman of the Convention Site Committee for 1960 and 1961 by Bernard Fineson, New York City attorney, and retiring state president. Also appointed to the committee were: Joseph Abessi, Broome County chapter; John B. Thackston, Jefferson County chapter; Clifford Westfall, Schenectady County chapter; Thomas Lotz, Rome State School; Stanley Geisman, New York City chapter; Thomas Murphy Oneida County chapter; Lawrence West, Clinton County chapter; Saul Fleiderbaum, Welfare League, Letchworth Village; and Bernard Rosenberg, Westchester County chapter.

One of two committees appointed for special work during the convention, the group reviewed appeals for recognition as a convention site from various sections of the state. Bids were received from four areas with the selected representative presenting detailed accounts of the facilities available for a state convention, chapter strength, historical and cultural background. Appearing before the group were: Mrs. William Murock, Elmira Junior League representative and Chemung County chapter president; Bernard Rosenberg, Westchester County; William Patten, upper Hudson County; and Arthur A. Resenberg, capital district. In a report to the general assembly on Sunday morning, Mrs. Buehring announced that the 1960 State Convention will be held in Rochester, on October 28, 29 and 30; the 1961 convention in Elmira, date to be confirmed later.

Following registration on Friday morning, delegates toured the Letchworth State School (one of the state's six residential schools for the mentally retarded) and Pomona Center, Short Stay Home for mentally handicapped children. The afternoon session featured three concurrent workshops: Education, How Education Services are Established in the Community, James Maroon, State AHRC Education Committee, chairman; Charles E. Becker, Association in Education of Mentally Retarded, State Education Department; Dr. Merrill L. Colton, Superintendent of Schools, Spring Valley; Vern Madden, Onondaga County chapter, AHRC; and Alan Romanella, supervisor of special classes, Suffolk County; Community Mental Health Services Act, Hy. Forstner, Director, Community Health Services, chairman; Walter Krudup, Suffolk County; and Kenneth Gang, Westchester County; Administration, Mrs. Helen Kaplan, Nassau County, chairman; Ruth Gross, Nassau County; Helene Rothchild, Monroe County; and Sidney VanDeusen, upper Hudson chapter.

The evening program highlighted a panel presentation on the topic: Institutions, "What the Institution Should Be Doing for the Retarded, and the Responsibility of Mental Hygiene to Develop Community Programs." Panelists included: Dr. Richard Hungerford, director, Laconia State School, Laconia, New Hampshire; and Dr. Charles E. Becker, Association in Education of Mentally Retarded, State Education Department.

Local AHRC delegates and members attending were: James F. Edgerton, president; Mrs. Clyde Snell, office secretary; Mrs. Arthur Eymann, recording secretary; and Mr. Alfonso Lenza, committee member.

Hampshire, moderator; Dr. Ignacy Goldberg, Teachers College, Columbia University; Dr. Arthur Pense, Deputy Commissioner of Mental Hygiene, New York State; Bernard Rosenberg, member board of visitors, Letchworth Village; and Dr. Chris J. DeProspero, professor of special education, College of the City of New York.

Saturday was devoted to general business. Delegates heard reports from all state AHRC officers, standing committees, workshop recorders, Joseph T. Wiegold, state AHRC executive secretary; Bernard Fineson, state AHRC president representing the board of governors; and Carl Schmidt of Monroe County, on the Demonstration Project of statewide interest.

During the business of the afternoon, important resolutions by the delegation included: statewide action to further favorable consideration of amending the Education Law to make mandatory the present permissive provisions for classes for trainable children. Similar resolutions were adopted by: American Legion at their state convention in July; the Southeastern Special Education Teachers' Association of Southeastern Zone at their Tenth Anniversary Conference in Kingston on October 17; South-eastern New York State Teachers Association who will present it at a meeting of the NYSTA House of Delegates scheduled for November in Rochester; and the New York State Grange at their recent State Convention, thus, this question to amend the Mental Hygiene Law by making mandatory education of children in state schools; by broadening the qualifications of the position of director of state schools.

Also to require at least one member of the board of visitors of each state school be a parent of a retarded child; to present as proposals to the Joint Legislative Committee on Mental Retardation an amendment of the Children's Court and Domestic Relations Court Acts giving judges of these courts the same powers to order care and treatment for the mentally retarded as they clearly have for the physically handicapped; that an apportionment be made to finance the establishment of "half-way" houses (supervised residences within the community housing young mentally handicapped adults during their transition from institutional to community living); and that the Education Law be amended to require psychological testing of any child who fails continuously during his first three years of school.

Saturday's luncheon featured greetings from John A. Balogh, Mayor of Spring Valley; and an address by Arthur M. Griffin, Director of Community and Public Relations, New York Trap Rock Corporation.

Climax of the three-day convention was the reception for delegates and guests by Rockland County chapter members and the Convention Dinner staged in the main dining room of the Hotel on Saturday evening at 7:30 p. m. The dinner program focused on an address by Dr. Richard Masland, Director, National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Blindness; greetings from Mrs. Elizabeth Boggs of Upper Montclair, N. J., NARC president; installation of state AHRC officers; and entertainment by the Letchworth Village Choral group.

Convention concluded on Sunday with a general assembly meeting; Board of Governors meeting; and a buffet luncheon.

Local AHRC delegates and members attending were: James F. Edgerton, president; Mrs. Clyde Snell, office secretary; Mrs. Arthur Eymann, recording secretary; and Mr. Alfonso Lenza, committee member.

Garden Club Names Its New Officers

KHS Is Proud of Extent, Scope of Science Course

(Editor's note: This is one of a series of articles on Kingston High School being published during American Education Week, Nov. 8-14. In this article Donald Anderson, head of the KHS Science Department, discusses problems, objectives and curriculum.)

Kingston High School is fortunate and proud of the extent and the scope of the Science courses available to its students. Available courses in science include: General Science, Health, Biology, Earth Science, Physics and Chemistry. A new course has been added in Advanced Biology.

In Kingston, as in all New York systems, all freshmen students take General Science, with the exception of accelerated "advanced placement" students who are allowed to take Biology in their freshman year. These advanced students have completed ninth grade General Science in their eighth year.

Addition To Science

The most recent addition to the Science curriculum is the introduction of Advanced Biology, which is available only to capable seniors who have shown exceptional ability in their regular Biology course. The outline for the Course of Study is based on college level and, upon a written examination, a student may be considered to have successfully completed the first college Biology course. With incentives like this, we find that a student will strive for greater proficiency in subject matter.

cient use of the "semi-micro" laboratory technique. The other room will be a Biology room which will be complete with lab tables, demonstration tables, sink and storage space for microscopes and supplies.

These changes were necessary to improve the teaching facilities and methods and to meet the needs for good Science standards.

The Science Department is fortunate in having twelve (12) teachers, who have an average of fourteen (14) years of science teaching experience. Of these teachers, all have a Bachelors Degree and three-fourths have a Masters Degree, the equivalent or more. In the past three years, this department has had four (4) Science Foundation Scholarships for summer study granted to teachers. At the present time, at least four teachers are enrolled voluntarily in extension courses for self improvement.

Effort Concentrated

Nearly all of these teachers concentrate their effort on only one subject which adds to the efficiency of their planning and teaching. Each of the teachers, with the exception of one, has his own classroom, which is definitely an advantage to the science teacher who must set up demonstrations and experiments. We are all aware that modern man must have a general idea of the Sciences, for we need only pick up our daily paper to read of the great advances being made in the world today.

Our primary purpose is to give the best Science education possible to all young people. We aim to encourage students to apply the scientific methods in their everyday life. In others, we strive to ignite a spark of inquisitiveness which, in turn, may lead him on to further study in the field.

Every teacher makes a sincere effort to make his course attractive to a student and encourages him to work to his fullest capacities.

Ex-Stamp Distributor, Admits Taking Some

CANANDAIGUA, N. Y. (AP)—Morgan H. Westcott, a former trading stamp distributor, pleaded guilty Friday to a charge of first-degree grand larceny and third-degree forgery in the theft of $50,110 in stamps and cash.

Westcott, manager of an S & H Green Stamp store in Geneva, was accused of stealing 3,500 books of the stamps, worth $43,750, and $6,360 in cash from the Sperry and Hutchinson Green Stamp Premium Co., his employer.

Westcott, from nearby Lyons, was freed in $20,000 bond pending sentencing Dec. 4.

Association Survey Reveals Desire for More Recreation

More than half of the voters in the township believe Woodstock is short on recreation facilities, nearly as many favoring a swimming pool and two out of five (40.1 per cent) think public funds should be spent for these community facilities.

A total of 53.5 per cent of persons replying to the Woodstock Association questionnaire, said they believed Woodstock could use more recreation facilities. A swimming pool was favored by 48.7 per cent, tennis courts and an ice skating rink each by about a third (32.7 per cent and 30 per cent, respectively).

On the question of permanent vs. seasonal people, almost nine out of ten (89.5 per cent) of the respondents said they are year-round residents. Eight per cent said they were seasonal residents and 2.5 per cent didn't answer the question.

Seek Moderate Growth

When it comes to rate of growth hoped for in the future, one out of five (23.4 per cent) want no increase in the present population. Almost two thirds (65 per cent) want growth at a moderate rate. These statistics would seem to indicate a strong feeling (88.4 per cent) that some kind of control on Woodstock's growth is desired.

The citizens also expressed strong preferences regarding the type of new residents they would like to see. Almost two thirds (63.8 per cent) want more year-round residents. Only a small fraction (3.7 per cent) want summer people and the rest expressed no opinion.

Town Planning Rare in County, Survey Reveals

Deliberate planning of town development in the sense of crystallizing a long range forecast of requirements into a desirable growth pattern is not found in any measure among the 20 townships of Ulster County, says the official report on Town Planning filed with the Town Board by the special committee of seven.

There appears to be only one township that has a master plan which may be considered to be of this nature, the report continues. It is understood, however, that little of this plan, made in 1957 with government subsidy, has been carried into action.

Planning boards like those in Hurley and Ulster have admitted they have been saddled with continuous work resulting from land subdivision approvals, leaving little time for true town planning in the above sense. It is believed that the other three townships who have a Planning Board have fared about the same.

It will be realized that town planning is a very technical matter and that most of such planning, the report says, cannot be performed unaided by the handful of spirited citizens who may be found prepared to shoulder Planning Board activities in communities as small as the townships in Ulster County.

Expert Help Needed

Real town planning, at one time or another, will therefore require paid expert help from professional planning engineers, of which there are many. This does not mean that the problems of township developments can just be "farmed out" by ordering a plan to be made by a professional office. Professional planners themselves stress the important angle of public relations, which is to be performed entirely by the Planning Board members, and without a development plan has little chance of public acceptance.

In the case of Woodstock, a standard growth-pattern plan, as may be expected from a professional planning office, would not seem to fulfill the community's aspirations, the report continues.

Woodstock has something quite distinct from the average community of its size. It is this intangible which is an asset that, we believe, all residents, including those with commercial inter-

The question about the need for a medical aid station revealed no strong opinions. About one-third (32.7 per cent) are in favor of establishing one, but one-third (34.9 per cent) are opposed. The rest expressed no opinion.

But when it comes to the need for doctors, more than two-thirds (68.1 per cent) of the respondents say the need is here. Only one person in eight is satisfied with the present medical services available in Woodstock area. These figures suggest that Woodstock may be ready for a medical group of four or five doctors working as a cooperative clinic. These have been quite successful in other communities and might use a medical station as a center.

Oppose Local Airport

The expenditure of town funds for sanitation was not heavily endorsed. Garbage removal should be handled privately, according to the largest number (43.8 per cent), but there was a stronger feeling (40.8 per cent) that street cleaning should be a public matter.

Almost three out of five (57.8 per cent) are opposed to a local airport. Well under one-third (29.5 per cent) favor one and the balance of the respondents had no opinion.

A need for better town roads was expressed by almost one half (48.4 per cent), but only about a third (36.4 per cent) are in favor of a higher highway budget. A total of 36.1 per cent expressed satisfaction with the present roads, and almost as many (31.6 per cent) are opposed to increasing the budget.

ests, would want to conserve. Furthermore, Woodstock harbor an unusually great number of talented citizens, creative citizens and individualists. It should be in a position, like few other communities of its size, to draw up its own pattern of development.

The committee concludes, therefore, that planning in Woodstock should start with Woodstockers and that a planning board should attempt to interpret first of all the spirit of Woodstock.

Cite RVC Senior For High Marks In National Test

Edward L. Hannan, a senior at Rondout Valley Central High School has been cited for outstanding performance on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. He has received a formal "Letter of Commendation" from the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, which was announced today.

John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, declares:

Letters of Commendation are being awarded to some 27,000 students from all over the United States in recognition of high performance on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. While these bright youngsters did not achieve the status of semi-finalists in the 1959-60 merit program, they are so outstanding that we wish to single them out for special attention.

We send these letters to provide tangible recognition of superior ability, and it is our earnest hope that the recipients will continue their education, and thus benefit not only themselves but the entire country.

Hudson Man Loses Life in Rt. 9 Crash

HUDSON, N. Y. (AP)—Alden E. Hammerle, 23, of Hudson, was killed today when the car he was driving slipped off Route 9, crashed through guard rails and tumbled down an 18-foot embankment, police reported.

Reports Damage to Car

Mrs. Frederick Scott, of Miller's Lane Extension, notified police Friday that her automobile was damaged Thursday when the front of the vehicle hit a fire hydrant which she said extended over the sidewalk on Washington Avenue at North Front Street.

Second Escapee Gives Up; Four Others Still Out

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—The second of six escapees from a downtown jail here gave himself up early today and police were hoping for a quick roundup of the other four.

Eddie J. Brooks, 27, surrendered at police headquarters shortly after midnight. Police said he was accompanied by several members of his family.

He was among six prisoners who broke out of Monroe County jail Tuesday by squeezing through a narrow roof vent and sliding down a sheathed television antenna.

The next day, Ernest Bixby, 24, was caught by a city patrolman on a downtown street. Brooks had been indicted on charges of possessing of narcotics and Bixby on charges of third-degree burglary. Police said both probably will face jailbreaking charges.

The father and brother of one of the missing men and a third man were arrested Friday on charges of aiding the three fugitives.

Joseph F. Comfort, 56; his son, Paul, 19, and Eugene R. Swift, 26, all of Rochester, pleaded innocent at arraignment on charges of being accessories to the escape. They were held for grand jury action.

Police said they aided Robert Comfort, 26, Robert Carrigan, 23, and Louis Smith, 24, after their escape. Swift admitted feeding and housing the three men and driving them to a city park.

A savage old pirate named Nate Had a hunger exceedingly great He chopped up his crew— Made a succulent stew And dined upon pieces of eight! —Rudy Maxwell

All that keeps some employees going is that they're too lazy to collapse.

The waiter who served the lady her drink was a little hard-of-hearing.

Lady—I'd like a straw with my lemonade, please.
Waiter (cupping a hand to his ear)—Hey?

Lady—No, I said a straw.
A gold digger is a carefree girl who breaks dates by going out with them.

In the Cathedral of Tomorrow Temple at Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, is the world's largest chandelier, an illuminated cross 100 feet long and containing 4,700 varicolored lights.

First Father—I don't know what to do about my son. He wants to drive the car.
Second Father—Well, whatever you do, don't stand in his way.

About the only thing that will now give you more for your money than ten years ago—is the penny scale at the drug store.

Best Portion—The best portion of a good man's life is his little, nameless, unremembered acts of kindness and love.

While the farm girl was milking a cow, a bull tore across the pasture toward her. The girl didn't stir but calmly continued with her milking. A stranger, who had run to safety, saw to his amazement that the bull stopped dead within a few yards of the milkmaid, turned around and walked away.

Visitor—How come you weren't afraid?
Girl—No reason to be. I happen to know this cow is his mother-in-law.

To be successful, look for work after you have found a job.

Jack Paar—Dennis Day has seven children now.
Cliff Arquette—Boy, he must have gone stark mad.

As a man grows in years, he values the voice of experience more, and the voice of prophecy less. He finds more of life's wealth in the common pleasures—home, health, children; he thinks more about the worth of men, and less about their wealth; he begins to appreciate his own father more; he boasts less and boosts more; he hurries less, and usually makes more progress; and he esteems the friendship of God more.

Father—I must tell you that my daughter can bring her husband only her beauty and her intellect.

Youth—I don't mind—many young couples have started in a very small way.

An electrical contractor who works around Ozaukee County, Wis., has painted on the back end of his truck: "Watts My

With a charming air of romance and pleasant sentimentality, the company were discussing how each married couple among them first met.

Asker—And where did you first meet your wife?

Man, 34, Blamed For 100 Fires, Is Given 15-30 Years

CANANDAIGUA, N. Y. (AP)—Albert Ward, 34, who reportedly set more than 100 fires throughout Yates and Ontario counties last summer, drew a 15-to-30 years in Attica State Prison Friday.

Ward, of East Bloomfield, pleaded guilty to six counts of arson. Police said he twice tried to set fire to Ontario County jail, where he was held awaiting trial.
